Demonstrate your new understanding of historical thinking by answering the following question:
In this activity you considered several questions regarding evidence, including “what kind of evidence would help us”, “how would we gather evidence” and “will we be unable to access some evidence”. Of these three questions, which do you think is the most important one in the everyday practice of science as you understand it? Defend your answer in four or five sentences. Use specific examples to support your answer.